Headline: It's Not Just For Kids

Waller, Texas—June 7, 2008—Imagine you are an adventurer off in search of hidden treasures. You stumble on the secret passageway to the safe of Sir Jeffery Richman's horde of stolen gold. The only problem is that you have to make it through a web of laser beams before you can recover poor Lady Goodfellow's inheritance. Worse yet, you must do this as quickly as possible since you know that Sir Richman's gang is only minutes behind you.

You enter the chamber, take a deep breath and begin to weave your way through the maze. You make it through in 6 seconds and hit the button to turn off the lasers, grab the gold and race back to Lady Goodfellow's.

Sound like a fun weekend? Well, you can experience the challenge of making it through the web of laser beams at Lonestar Yogi in Waller, Texas. Situated just 35 miles NW of Houston 610 loop, the Laser Maze Challenge is a new addition to the ever expanding attractions at Lonestar Yogi.

Created by Funovation, the Laser Maze was originally designed with kids from 7 to 15 in mind. However, it is quickly catching on with corporate retreats, workshops and groups looking for a new way to challenge their members.
